

Lab Assignment

Implement a distributed system scenario where four nodes are placed within a large area of two-dimensional space. Out of these four nodes, three nodes already have their location information related with certain landmark. Implement an algorithm to find the unknown location in 2-D space for the fourth node. You can use the round-trip time for calculation of the distance.

